Adding tokens unlocks more ways to use web3.

This screenshot shows the MetaMask extension's home page within a browser window. The top navigation bar includes tabs for 'MetaMask' and 'MetaMask 2.0'. Below the header, there's a toolbar with icons for 'Photo and Thumb', 'Addmission', and a '2.0' button. The main content area displays a table titled 'All popular networks' with nine rows. Each row contains a network logo, its name, its current value ($0.00), and its token symbol (e.g., SOL, ETH). The first row is Solana, followed by five Ethereum entries (including one labeled 'Earn'), SEI, BNB, and POL. To the left of the table, there are percentage changes: -2.21% for Solana, +0.23% for the first Ethereum entry, +0.28% for the next three, and -0.45% for POL. A blue banner at the bottom provides tips for using a wallet, stating 'Adding tokens unlocks more ways to use web3.'
